WILDERNESS EXPERIENCE has been offering classes & trips for three years now and beginning this year we have something new, a small shop where we make mountaineering and backpacking equipment. If you were into backpacking ten years ago you will remember the small shops run by active mountaineers who cared about you and the equipment they sold. That's the way we liked it and that's what we wish to remain. We are not a large production line company, but instead take time on each thing we make. Please drop by and visit our shop anytime. Don't think that because our prices are much lower than anywhere that our equipment isn't as good—we are selling direct, no wholesaler or retailer. If you can't come by, but still wish to buy something by mail order, go ahead and if you're not completely happy, send it back and we'll refund your money (the only catch—you must make up your mind in 15 days and return it in good shape.) As for workmanship and materials, of course we'll stand behind anything we sell. We're mountaineers and we enjoy making equipment, drop by—we'll answer your questions and listen to your ideas.
